

Your 24/7 source for everything Mid Michigan.

HOME

NEWS

SPORTS

WEATHER

COMM

Contact Us • Program Schedule • Our Team • Contests • Advertise With Us

Story

Local State
National/World
Crime
Politics
Health
Business

Saginaw river dredging project will start in July

Residents are concerned about hazardous material.

By Molly Frey

Posted: Tuesday, June 20, 2006 at 5:29 PM

Dredging the Saginaw River and dumping the contents into a Frankenlust Township facility will start July.

Tuesday, the Army Corps of Engineers met with contractors to determine what steps need to be taken before the start of the project.

The first week of July will be prep work at the facility.

Dredging will start the week of July 10.

Dredging the river and the dumping of silt in a facility in Frankenlust Township has caused a lot of controversy.

Many residents are concerned dioxins and other hazardous materials will go into the ground.

About Us | Contact Us | Advertise With Us | Privacy Policy | Terms of Use

